Dear DOL Office of Regulations and Interpretations,

I am a full time employee at a commercial company with an IRA account. For the record I oppose the rule particularly with restricting the trading of options in IRA account. The ability to trade options provides me portfolio insurance that helps mitigate risk by offering "portfolio protection". I have invested a great deal of time and energy learning proper options trading and it is an effective tool for ordinary citizens like me to help protect our retirement savings.

Sincerely,
Donald Igoe
