Gentlemen,

Please don't place any restrictions on my ability to write covered calls in my IRA. With nothing to be gained from interest on savings accounts or CDs and way too much insecurity in high yielding "junk" I am left with the relative safety of receiving some return from writing these calls.

The old method of carefully apportioning funds to both equities and bonds is no longer operative and to forbid me from accessing this relatively narrow avenue of revenue enhancement is needless.

Best,

John Tierney
