Please do not outlaw options trading in IRA accounts. I use protective puts to manage downside risk and occasionally do more exotic trades such as iron condors to enhance my retirement income. These more exotic trades are limited risk/limited reward trades by their very nature. I am , retired, MBA, CPA, and do not need the government interfering with the way I manage my finances. I have done very well trading options for the past 10 years with little help from anyone because I am fully aware of the risks.
