The goal of the WORC grants is to create economic prosperity and gainful employment opportunities for eligible residents in impacted ARC and DRA regions, enabling them to remain and thrive in these communities.

Herzing will create Herzing WORCS, a three-layered workforce training program suitable to meet the education and training needs of a variety of potential students with varied educational and work backgrounds. The program will meet two critical needs: 1) provide skills training for new entrants to the workforce, dislocated workers, and incumbent workers so they can participate in economic prosperity and achieve gainful employment; and 2) reduce the regional shortage of healthcare professionals. Students can earn a Sterile Processing Diploma (SPD), a Bachelor of Science in Nursing, or a Master of Science in Nursing as a Psychiatric Mental Health Nurse Practitioner.
