What does Job Corps offer to Veterans?

Veterans receive priority enrollment at all Job Corps centers. While you may attend any Job Corps center in the nation, there are three centers that offer dorm areas exclusively for Veterans. You will be living among other Veterans who are also transitioning from the military to civilian life. Those centers are:

- Atterbury Job Corps Center in Edinburgh, Indiana
- Earle C. Clements Job Corps Center in Morganfield, Kentucky
- Excelsior Springs Job Corps Center in Excelsior Springs, Missouri

For a map of all centers, visit www.recruiting.jobcorps.gov.

Starting a new career?

One of the program's biggest benefits is its post-graduate support. When you are ready to start looking for a job, staff will work with you to find job openings and submit resumes. Job Corps will help you for up to 21 months after you graduate to connect with housing, transportation, and day care resources.

What happens at Job Corps?

While most of your time on center will be devoted to career training, you may spend some time taking academic classes. When you arrive you will be required to take a test to assess your academic skill level. Although you already have your high school diploma or GED, you may need to take additional classes in subjects such as math and English to prepare you for your career area.

You will have the chance to train with Job Corps employer partners on actual work sites. Job Corps has partners in every corner of the country who are looking for qualified people to train and hire.

Once the training day is over, you may need to study or have chores to complete. In addition, there's time to relax and enjoy recreational activities. You're also eligible for weekend passes to go home and visit family and friends, or family can visit you at the center.
