

TECHNICAL COOPERATION PROJECT SUMMARY

PROJECT TITLE EDUCAFUTURO: PROJECT TO COMBAT CHILD LABOR AMONG VULNERABLE POPULATIONS IN ECUADOR AND PANAMA BY PROVIDING DIRECT EDUCATION AND LIVELIHOOD SERVICES

REGION/COUNTRY THE AMERICAS/ Ecuador and Panama

PROJECT DURATION December 27, 2012 – June 30, 2017

FISCAL YEAR & FUNDING LEVEL FY2012: USD 6,500,000

PROBLEM TO BE ADDRESSED In Panama, more than 60,000 children are economically active or working while in Ecuador, there are over 155,000 children who are economically active or working. Although Ecuador and Panama have made efforts during the last decade to combat child labor, children remain engaged in the worst forms of child labor, particularly in agriculture, domestic labor, and informal urban labor. These are often Afro-descendant, indigenous and migrant children. Additionally, there are child laborers affected by disabilities whose educational and livelihood options have been compromised.

TARGETS This project targets 6830 beneficiaries which include children, youth, and households. EducaFuturo will reduce hazardous child labor in Ecuador and Panama especially among Afro-descendants, indigenous, migrant populations, and those affected by disabilities. In Panama, the project will be present in Bocas del Toro, Colon, Darien, and in the comarcas of Ngobe-Bugle and Embera-Wounnan. In Ecuador, the project will be present in Azuay, Cañar, Esmeraldas, and Imbabura.

PROJECT OBJECTIVES To improve educational outcomes for child and adolescents involved in child labor; and improve family income so that households do not need to rely on the work of children for survival.

Intermediate Objectives:

- Increase access to education and livelihood opportunities for families vulnerable to child labor;
- Provide educational services to reduce child labor and improve educational outcomes for vulnerable
