

Division of Energy Employees' Occupational Illness Compensation (DEEOIC)

New ECOMP and EDP secure login feature launching March 3, 2026.

To improve your security and streamline your access to our online services, the Division of Energy Employees Occupational Illness Compensation (DEEOIC) is transitioning to Login.gov for sign-in and identity verification. Login.gov offers a single, secure account to access participating government agency websites.

This change will affect how you log in to the following portals:

- Employees' Compensation Operations & Management Portal (ECOMP)
- Energy Document Portal (EDP)

What This Means for You:

Beginning March 3, 2026, new ECOMP users will be required to use a Login.gov account to access their case. If you already have a verified ECOMP account, you will not be required to use a Login.gov account until your account needs re-certified. When recertification is required, ECOMP will notify you and direct you to Login.gov.

EDP users will continue to be able to upload general documents to existing cases and check the status of uploaded documents. However, beginning March 3, 2026, a Login.gov account will be required to upload claim forms and/or payment forms.

Why We Are Making This Change:

Your security is a top priority for DEEOIC. Login.gov offers a stronger layer of security, ensuring that your sensitive data remains safe from unauthorized access. In addition, its easy-to-use interface streamlines your experience with online portals.

What You Need to Do:

You can create a free login.gov account at any time. The process is simple and takes just a few minutes by visiting <https://login.gov/create-an-account> . If you do not create a Login.gov account prior to accessing EDP or ECOMP, the systems will direct to create a Login.gov as appropriate. Once your Login.gov account is created, you may also need to verify your identity upon signing in to DEEOIC portals. Information on the identity verification process can be found here: <https://login.gov/help/verify-your-identity/overview/>

If you experience any issues with the Login.gov account creation or ID verification process, you can obtain help by visiting <https://login.gov/help/> or by calling (844) 875-6446, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

We appreciate your cooperation in helping us enhance the security of your information.
