

Workers Owed Wages

Find Your Back Wages

When the Wage and Hour Division finds labor law violations, we often collect unpaid wages due to current and former employees. We try to contact every worker owed back wages, but money unclaimed after three years must be returned to the U.S. Treasury.

To help workers owed back wages get their money, we've made it easy to search our records. If you find that we recovered money for you, we'll help you claim it.
